

Can a Retinal Examination Provide Clues to a Person's Risk of Stroke?

Learning objectives:

- To provide an update on recent studies on the epidemiology of retinal microvascular signs
- To discuss the relationship of retinal microvascular signs with risk of stroke, stroke subtypes and other cerebrovascular diseases
- To discuss the potential application of retinal imaging for clinical prediction of stroke

Professor Tien Y. Wong

Provost Chair Professor, National University of Singapore; Vice-Dean, Office of Clinical Sciences, Duke-NUS Graduate Medical School; Group Director, Research, Singapore Health Services; Senior Consultant Ophthalmologist, Singapore National Eye Centre; Senior Principal Clinician-Scientist, Singapore Eye Research Institute

Date

Agenda

Where Le Pois Penché Restaurant

In compliance with the Rx&D Code of Conduct, this invitation is extended to health care professionals only.

This program is supported in part by an educational grant from Novartis Canada Inc.